

Scornful President Ridicules General In Chicago Address

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN (P)—President Truman's assertion that Dwight D. Eisenhower is playing "low-down tricks" to get votes added new fuel today to the bitter presidential campaign.

Truman moved into Michigan to continue his last-lap drive for Adlai Stevenson after a two-speech invasion of Chicago, where he poured ridicule on the GOP nominee for his "easy" solution "for everything."

Can't Be Superman

In a plain reference to Eisenhower, he told an overflow dinner crowd of the AFL Cook County League for Political Education, which gave him an ear-splitting welcome:

"No general order is going to eliminate our problems. No superman is going to solve our difficulties for us. And anybody who poses and talks like a superman is just a plain fraud."

The President scheduled whistle-stop talks at Muskegon, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Trowbridge, Flint, Pontiac and Hamtramck, Mich., en route to Detroit for a major

Michigan CIO Leaders Cash In On Truman

President Truman will climax a whistle-stop tour of southern Michigan today with a major speech in Detroit tonight in behalf of the Democratic presidential nominee, Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

Mr. Truman's address at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum will be broadcast and televised nationally at 10:30 p. m. Michigan Democratic leaders joined Mr. Truman's tour in an effort to make as much political hay as possible in the final week of the campaign.

Hunger May End Riot Of 322 Convicts In Illinois Prison Today

By LARRY KRAMP

CHESTER, Ill. (P)—Acting Illinois Gov. Sherwood Dixon expressed strong hope today that 322 mutinous but hungry convicts would end their rebellion, now in its fourth day, at Menard State Prison and release their seven hostages without harm.

Optimism among state and prison authorities grew swiftly last night as hunger began to show its effect on the rebels.

No Food Since Monday

The haggard inmates have been without food since seizing the east cell block of this Southern Illinois prison late Monday. Their hostages—a prison lieutenant and six guards—have been without food since noon Monday.

Three hostages already have been freed. That move came yesterday when 38 psychiatric inmates surrendered and gave up the hostages unharmed on Dixon's promise to hear their grievances.

After that break in tension, Dixon told the remaining convict holdouts:

"As soon as you restore order and release the seven guards I will sit down with you and hear every grievance."

Hostages Unharmed

Late last night two prison chaplains entered the cell block at the inmates' request. When they returned from the darkened building they came with word that the seven hostages were apparently in good health. They also carried a list of 12 demands drafted by the prisoners.

Prison officials would not reveal all of the demands, but at a news conference attended by wives of the imprisoned guards, Dixon said: "They ask increased medical service and a better food supply. And of course, they all want to get out."

Dirty Food Reported

He added that he was confident the hostages would be released unharmed and the trouble ended, perhaps sometime today.

In Chicago yesterday a member of the legislative committee which investigated a September riot at the prison said the group had been told of "drunkenness" and "dirty food" at the institution.

State Sen. Peter J. Miller, secretary of the committee, said a "partial report disclosed shocking conditions of immorality, drunkenness, inadequate and dirty food that contained flies and cockroaches."

Soviet Delegate Lashes U. S. In Fiery U. N. Talk

By OSGOOD CARUTHERS

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (P)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky asked the United Nations Assembly last night to form an international commission to seek peace in Korea and unification of that war-torn country.

American sources at the U. N. generally viewed the proposal as the same old Soviet stuff.

On the commission proposed by Vishinsky would be "the parties directly concerned and other states, including states not participating in the war in Korea."

Door Open To Kremlin

Vishinsky's speech made no mention of just which countries he would include in these categories, but his resolution would open the door for the Soviet Union to become directly involved.

The new Soviet proposal came at the end of a fiery speech in which Vishinsky, for three hours and 39 minutes, lashed back at the American stand outlined last Friday by U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Selwyn Lloyd of Great Britain was scheduled as the first Western big power spokesman scheduled to reply to Vishinsky in the Assembly's Political Committee today.

Starting All Over

But Acheson commented last night to reporters that the Soviet foreign minister said "nothing we have not heard a thousand times before, at Pannmunjon and here."

Another U. S. spokesman added that turning the Korean armistice problem over to the commission proposed by Vishinsky "would mean starting the negotiations all over again."

Vishinsky scorned the resolution Acheson introduced asking the General Assembly to approve the U. N. Command's stand against forcibly

Gunmen Rob 150 At Chicago Party

CHICAGO (P)—Seven Negro gunmen invaded a west side charity card party last night and terrorized 150 persons while robbing them of cash, jewelry, furs and clothing. Police said the total loss might reach $75,000.

The gunmen, five of whom wore handkerchief masks, gained entrance to the Austrian Jewish Community Center and captured Barney Juvik, 57, a janitor who was guarding the cloakroom. They used Juvik as a shield as they marched into a second floor auditorium where the 150 persons were playing cards.

"This is a stickup!" one of the robbers shouted. "Everybody lie on the floor and turn over your money and jewelry. If you don't we'll tear it off you!"

Men tossed their bill folds and women their jewelry on the floor. The seven assailants spent a half hour systematically collecting valuables. They stripped rings and other jewelry from some women.

David Polayes, 72, was pistol-whipped by one of the gunmen when Polayes tried to intercede as the robber tore his wife's wedding ring off her finger.

Democrats See Victory Ahead For Stevenson

By DON WHITEHEAD

En Route With Stevenson in Pennsylvania (P)—A brand new wave of optimism swept through the camp of Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson today as he "poured it on" Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for what he called a cynical search for votes in proposals for ending the Korean War.

This spurt in spirits came as Democratic leaders sniffed a possible victory next Tuesday from what they interpret as a last-minute surge of sentiment toward Stevenson.

May Be Too Late

Stevenson himself appeared more confident and was predicting victory more and more in his speeches. Their big doubt, however, was whether the surge had come too late.

Last night Stevenson climaxed a day of rousing orations in Pennsylvania with a speech in jam-packed Convention Hall. Police estimated 18,000 people crowded in to the building with another 6,000 overflow crowd outside.

In effect, he accused Eisenhower of being a puppet speaking

Southern Fires Ravage Forests

By The Associated Press

Thousands of fire fighters today carried on their battle against forest flames roaring over vast areas in Southern states.

Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and North Carolina appeared to be hit the hardest. Fires were widespread also in Alabama, Georgia and Kentucky and some are reported in Texas, South Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia.

W. R. Hine, assistant regional forester in Tennessee, said, "It would take a hundred years to replace timber that has been burned in the past week" in that state.

In the Northern section of the Cumberland Plateau alone fires had swept over about 100,000 acres in six counties.

In Mississippi, 1,723 separate fires have burned over 62,000 acres since Oct. 1. Last night 191 fires still raged.

Scores of fires raged in about 15,000 acres of Louisiana pine and hardwood forests.

In Arkansas, 38 fires were reported last night in the Southern part of the state and 10 in the Northern portion.

Alabama reported 10 fires still burning last night out of 100 that broke out in the last two days.

Ninety-six fires were reported in Georgia but all were believed under control except one in Paulding and Cobb Counties.

Kentucky had 165 fires burning last night on 14,964 acres. About 100,000 acres of timberland have been burned in the state.

Letter From Eighth Army Boss In Korea Bolsters Eisenhower

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower campaigned today with a letter from the commander of the Eighth Army in Korea in an attempt to back up his argument that South Koreans are potentially capable of replacing the American divisions now fighting there.

He said the letter, dated Oct. 10, came from Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet and reported the South Korean Army was in "apple pie order."

Reason For Trip

What Van Fleet wrote, Eisenhower said in a television-radio appearance last night, ties in with his own reason for wanting to go to Korea, if he is elected president. He said:

"I want to study on the spot the conditions we will find there. ... One of the things I want to find out is how much the Republic of Korea can contribute to its own battle requirements."

Van Fleet's letter praised the fighting qualities of the South Koreans. He said one division, the ninth, had destroyed four regiments of the 38th Chinese Army, "one of the best." The Eighth Army commander added, "I am confident they will continue to hold and destroy the remaining reserve of that army."

Got Little Encouragement

Eisenhower's headquarters said Van Fleet's letter was written to Maj. Gen. Orlando C. Mood in Washington and was released to Eisenhower by Mrs. Van Fleet who got a copy from her husband. The letter reported that Van Fleet had received "very little encouragement, and never an approval" for his own efforts to train new South Korean divisions.

Describing his efforts to build up the South Korean army, Van Fleet wrote:

"I have done this on my own responsibility with very little encouragement, and never an approval for any increases. I am confident that approval will be granted post-haste for an increased ceiling in the ROK (Republic of Korea) Army."

One Of The Finest

"You know that I have felt all the time that we should be preparing strenuously all during the past year for what may eventually be required, and that my plans including doubling the size of the ROK Army—20 divisions instead of 10."

Van Fleet wrote that he had said he would release two American divisions if he could have six more South Korean divisions.

"Or give me four, and I would release one U. S. division. It finally got down to a two-division increase, but still no approval to this date," he added.

Eisenhower did not comment on the letter other than to recall Van Fleet's record in training Greek troops in their war, five years ago, against the Communists, and to describe him as "one of the finest commanders our army has developed."

Both Candidates Are Keeping Fit

WASHINGTON (P)—"The two presidential candidates," a national health magazine reported today, "are good models to follow for keeping fit."

This nonpartisan view on the health habits of Republican Dwight Eisenhower and Democrat Adlai Stevenson came from Dr. Howard J. Hoxie and Dr. J. Dewitt Fox, writing in the magazine Life and Health.

The doctors said that both Stevenson and Eisenhower, who have been campaigning at a killing pace in the past two months, "give far closer attention to health habits and well-balanced living than the average person."

Here's how they appraised the health habits of the two men:

Eisenhower:
Up at 7:30 or 7: to bed by 10. ... Follows a strict schedule with his meals, rest and exercise as the demands of a political campaign will permit. ... "Watches his diet carefully." ... "Hasn't smoked for three years, since his doctor ordered him to quit. As a result, his heart and blood pressure have remained normal."

Stevenson:
Up before 7, to bed in time for "a good eight hours' sleep." ... "Tries to get as much real rest as possible during the day and while traveling." ... "Has to keep in mind his slight tendency to overweight when he scans the menu."

"His favorite food: low-in-calories, red, ripe tomatoes."

Sunday Visitor Poll Gives Lead To Ike

HUNTINGTON, Ind. (P)—Returns in a presidential straw vote conducted by Our Sunday Visitor, a Roman Catholic weekly, give Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower a 3-2 lead over Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic nominee.

The publication said 10,576 readers returned a ballot published Oct. 22 and 6,554 were for Eisenhower and 4,022 for Stevenson.

Allies Win Back Pinpoint Peak

By STAN CARTER

SEOUL (P)—Allied infantry won back Pinpoint Hill with clubbed rifles and cold steel today. Earlier 2,000 Chinese Reds, bursting out of the mouth of a long, uphill tunnel, had gained control of the vital Central Korean Front peak.

Thousands of rounds of artillery fire from both sides churned the rocky summit into sand during the savage fighting and was continuing without letup. An Eighth Army staff officer said it probably would rate as the most intense shelling of the war.

The Allied troops were dug in 50 yards down the slope from the summit of Pinpoint, taking cover from the hail of shells which blistered the crest.

They drove the Chinese off that highest peak of Sniper Ridge at mid-afternoon under Red artillery and air shelling described by the officer as "very deadly."

Early Orange Crop From Japan Misses Canada Thanksgiving

VANCOUVER, B. C. (P)—For 20 years, Japanese horticulturists have been trying to grow an orange that will ripen in time for the Canadian Thanksgiving trade. This year they thought they did it.

A Japanese businessman arrived here today with 40,000 cases of the fruit—only to find that the Canadian Thanksgiving was Oct. 13, almost seven weeks instead of two weeks ahead of the American holiday.

The businessman said somebody in his Tokyo office handed him the lemon—the wrong date.

Fake 'Confessions' In Korea Blackest Mark Against Reds

WASHINGTON (P)—Secretary of the Air Force Finletter said today the extraction of "confessions" from Allied prisoners of war is one of the blackest marks against communism.

"All members of the American armed forces, and particularly those of the U. S. Air Force, feel an intense revulsion against Chinese Communist methods of forcing false confessions from their victims to provide grist for the Communist propaganda mill," Finletter said in a statement.

"These barbaric methods of endeavoring to 'brain-wash' the minds of soldiers for propaganda purposes are among the blackest marks yet recorded against the Communist regimes."

Finletter commented in answer to queries about a charge by the Air Force Association in Air Force Magazine last week that the Communists tortured two U. S. fliers into making false confessions that they took part in germ warfare. The fliers are Lt. John S. Quinn, 30, Altadena, Calif., and Lt. Kenneth L. Enoch, 27, Youngstown, Parked Police Car Destroyed By Blast At St. Joseph, Mich.

ST. JOSEPH (P)—A mysterious blast last night destroyed a parked police car and shattered windows in the city hall.

No one was injured in the explosion which occurred in a parking lot behind the city hall. Police said the blast apparently was caused by an explosive charge which had been placed inside the police car.

Police Chief Tom Gillespie was unable to say why anyone would want to dynamite the car.

The blast drew a large crowd to the city hall area. Sheriff Erwin H. Kubath said he felt the blast at the county jail six blocks away.

Eden Coming Over

LONDON (P)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons yesterday he hopes to go to New York next week to lead the British delegation at the United Nations.

All Sound Alike

The Communists have circulated photographs of a statement, apparently written by Enoch, saying in part: "I am beginning to see very clearly just who is the peace-lover and who is the warmonger responsible for this inhuman war, and I am determined to struggle for peace against Wall Street capitalism, to clear my conscience of my past crimes."

The article about the fliers called attention to the striking similarity among the extracted "confessions," as publicized in the Russian radio and press—and to repeated use of Communist stock phrases.

It frankly presented no new evidence that the confessions had been forced.

Hoarder Of Mail Gets Two Years

DETROIT (P)—Federal Judge Arthur F. Lederle told a postman who hoarded the mail in his basement instead of delivering it that he was letting him off light in giving him only two years in prison.

Roman Kortes, 51, was sentenced yesterday to two years for each of two counts of mail theft but the terms were made concurrent.

The judge said: "If I were to give you the time you deserve for each letter and package you stole, the sentence would exceed the number of years that have passed since the Stone Age."

Post office inspectors said they found at least 10,000 letters and packages stacked away in Kortes' basement. Kortes, a mailman for 28 years, hoarded them over a four year period.

"I just couldn't help it," Kortes said.

Kortes' passion for hoarding the mail disrupted the lives of scores of people, Assistant U. S. Attorney J. Conner said. He reported postal inspectors had uncovered cases where romance were broken up because "love letters never reached their destination."

"The inspectors," Austin said, "found cases where girls jilted their sweethearts for other men because they didn't write. Then, too, there are girls who are single now instead of married because their boy friends got tired of waiting for letters."

"Because the mail didn't go through, appointments, weren't kept and people lost jobs and money."

Railroader 65 Years

DETROIT (P)—J. William McNamara, an employee of the Michigan Central Railroad for 65 years, died here yesterday at 79. He reportedly had the longest record of service on any railroad in the nation. He began working for the railroad at 14 as a clerk. He was still working as a clerk when he became ill last week.

Democrat Aide Fired For Fat Fee Deal In $9,000,000 Contract

WASHINGTON (P)—An official of the Democratic National Committee has been fired for allegedly helping negotiate a nine-million-dollar government contract while working for the committee.

Democratic Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell identified him last night as Col. Lawrence Westbrook, a research and development engineer who since Jan. 5 has served as liaison man between the committee and members of Congress.

Westbrook has been helping House Speaker Sam Rayburn in the Democratic presidential campaign in Texas. He said by telephone from Dallas there was "nothing wrong" with the contract or his negotiations.

Share In $450,000

In New York, the Herald Tribune called it "the biggest 5 percent deal ever exposed in Washington." It said Westbrook and two other men stood to share a $450,000 commission.

Jess Larson, who signed the contract for the government in his capacity as head of the Defense Materials Procurement Agency, said today Westbrook signed the nine-million-dollar deal for tungsten between a Portuguese company and his agency.

The contract, in effect since Sept. 11, was canceled by the government Monday for the announced reason that the company had violated terms by going into the open market for tungsten to sell the U. S. instead of keeping its pledge to supply the metal from mines it claimed to control.

No Exceptions
Larson said if the contract had not been canceled already on these grounds "we may have canceled the contract anyway had we known" of Westbrook's relationship with the deal.

Mitchell said Westbrook explained he had opened negotiations before he was employed by the committee and thought terms of the government contract had been settled before he began his new work.

But Westbrook was dismissed, Mitchell said, because "I do not think any exception can be made to the policy that an employee of the committee must not engage in business with the government."

Refugees Organized To Liberate Russians

MUNICH, Germany (P)—Nine organized groups of refugees from the Soviet Union united today to work for the liberation of the Soviet people from Communist rule.

They set up a central agency known as the "Co-ordinating Center of the Anti-Bolshevik Struggle."

The new union pledged itself to the establishment in the Red lands of a democratic form of government reflecting the desires of those people.

Mexican Agents Hunt Communist Agitators

MEXICO CITY (P)—Mexican special agents were reported hunting Communists—including maybe some from Europe—on the Guatemalan border today.

A government source said the agents had been sent to Chiapas State, on the border, to investigate reports of Red activity. He added that they had special instructions to check on rumors, as yet unconfirmed, that several Communist agitators from Eastern Europe had crossed the border.

More Support Urged For Chest Campaign

The windup drive in the Escanaba Community Chest campaign is underway and all city committee chairmen and solicitors have been alerted by Bruce Brackett, Escanaba chairman, to complete calls in their respective areas.

"Escanaba must not fail in this 1952 Chest campaign," Brackett said. "The beneficial work of six health and welfare agencies throughout 1953 hangs in the balance, and we can't let them down."

"All workers must make every effort to make calls and several repeat calls if necessary to complete the canvass in their areas of responsibility. Ludington street is about 50 per cent complete, and the industrial campaign is about a third complete."

Union contributions have not yet been received, and the campaign in the city schools also is not yet completed. The drive among Escanaba's professional men, doctors, dentists and attorneys, is only partially finished, and the special gift drive has not yet been made.

The Kiwanis Club and Masonic Blue Lodge are the only civic, service and fraternal organizations which have made a contribution to the Community Chest subscriptions are in, but the state highway and Delta county road commission reports are not yet in.

All persons not yet solicited are reminded that the Community Chest campaign is for six agencies, the Michigan Children's Aid, Salvation Army, Campfire Girls, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and the Cod Liver Oil Fund.

Before making a donation, residents are asked to consider how much they would give to each of six separate drives were held and to multiply their Chest contribution accordingly.

"The Chest campaign is being conducted to eliminate separate drives but it can be continued only if the public gives its full support," Dr. A. A. Gossan, county chairman, emphasized this morning. "If the Chest drive fails, it is likely that we may go back to the days of many, many separate drives."

Fire Hazard Is High In Delta

The woods of Delta county are "like a tinder box" and the danger of fire continues at the highest point so far this year, John Chriske, Escanaba district supervisor for the Department of Conservation, warned today.

Ten acres have burned over in the county in two fires yesterday, and more than 20 fires have occurred in the district before rain or snow drenched the northern section of the district, Chriske reported.

One of the fires yesterday swept through five acres of grass and brush lands in Wells township, and a second fire near Hendricks roared through five acres of slash before it was brought under control by bulldozers and pumps last evening.

Rising winds and the absence of rain again today created still greater hazards in woodlands of Delta county, calling for increased care with fire in the woods by small game hunters.

Persons in the woods should not build campfires, and hunters should "break their match" or otherwise be sure that discarded matches or cigarettes are extinguished, Chriske said.

Provo Case In Hands Of Jury

The case of the state vs. Donald Provo on the charge of rape went to the jury at 11:30 this morning after a full day of testimony was heard yesterday from eight state witnesses and the defendant himself.

In charging the jury this morning Presiding Judge Glenn W. Jackson instructed the 5-man, 7-woman panel that they could return one of five possible verdicts:

1. guilty of rape as charged
2. guilty of assault with intent to commit the crime of rape,
3. guilty of assault,
4. guilty of battery, or
5. not guilty.

The 21 year old defendant was the only witness to testify on his behalf. In direct and cross examination yesterday he described the events out of which grew the state's charge that on Oct. 9 he forcibly prevailed upon the alleged victim, Olive Kirkpatrick, 17, of Escanaba, to commit the offense of sexual intercourse with him.

Statements Contradict

Provo, who lives at 1325 N. 22nd St., testified that the girl was persuaded to come to the party at the Pine Ridge home of his brother, that she left the party with William Thennis, 19, of Escanaba, that he joined the pair in his parked car outside of the building, that he drove the car away after suggesting they go for a ride, that he stopped the car twice, the second time getting into the back seat with the girl while Thennis got behind the wheel.

Continuing his testimony from that point, his statements began to contradict those of the girl who testified earlier yesterday.

He said that the girl offered no objection to his getting into the back seat with her, and that he recalled no threat of killing her if she didn't yield to him, as she testified. He also contradicted her testimony that she tried to resist by pushing him away.

Says He "Blacked Out"

The defendant claimed that he began to feel "dizzy and sick" while committing the sexual act. "I felt like I was in some sort of a dream," he related. "There was nothing I could do to stop myself. Then I blacked out."

(Provo pleaded guilty in Circuit Court arraignment Monday morning to the count of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder. The assault was perpetrated on the girl immediately after the offense for which he was being tried.)

New Polio Case Reported Here

Delta County this week added another polio case to its records.

Kay Marie Hoes, daughter of Mrs. Fred Marenger of Flat Rock, is in St. Luke hospital at Marquette for treatment of the disease. The 14-year-old Flat Rock eighth grader has involvement of both legs.

She first became ill Saturday morning and was taken to St. Luke hospital in Marquette Monday morning. Her condition is reported improving.

Delta County has had over 50 reported cases of polio, 47 of which were treated in Marquette. Three Delta cases were fatal.

ognized as an excuse for crime."

It is definitely not valid in a charge of rape, he added, inasmuch as that is an offense that is deliberate and not accidental. Judge Jackson then presented to the jury the five possible verdicts they could return.

At the reconvening of court this afternoon, a jury panel was to be selected to sit in the trial of William Thennis.

ognized as an excuse for crime."

It is definitely not valid in a charge of rape, he added, inasmuch as that is an offense that is deliberate and not accidental. Judge Jackson then presented to the jury the five possible verdicts they could return.

At the reconvening of court this afternoon, a jury panel was to be selected to sit in the trial of William Thennis.

Rule Justices Not Members Of Township Board

Through a decision of the state Supreme Court handed down Oct. 6, the legal membership of township boards in Delta and other counties has been reduced to three members.

The ruling eliminates the township justices of the peace as board officers and restricts the membership to the supervisor, the township clerk and the township treasurer, according to the memorandum received here by County Clerk Mary Constantineau.

Majority of 2 Rules
Although the decision was handed down in a case appealed to it by a member of the Dearborn township board, the Court held that its decision will be applicable "to the township boards of all townships regardless of whether they have operated as a five-man or a seven-man board."

Even though a particular township has adopted the Michigan statute providing for membership of all four justices of the peace upon its township board, the provision contained in the section requiring a quorum of four is no longer in effect, the Court ruled. "We are further of the opinion," the justices' decision reads, "that the provision contained in the same section providing for a quorum of three upon a five-man board is no longer in effect, inasmuch as the total membership of the board is now reduced to three. Instead, it is our opinion that powers conferred upon township boards may be exercised by a majority of the three members under the provisions of the subsection 3 of 8.3, C. L. 1948, 2.212, Mich. Stat. Ann."

Justices Can Be Inspectors
The Court said that its decision "would not, however, prevent an individual, merely because he is a justice of the peace, from being appointed or employed in his individual capacity in any position or work which is not incompatible with his office as justice of the peace."

For example, he might be designated and serve as a member of the board of inspectors of elections, except, of course, at any election in which he is disqualified because of his candidacy for an office to be filled in the election."

Annual Inspection Local Commandery Saturday Evening

Howard D. Caulkin, of Grand Rapids, deputy grand commander of Michigan, will visit Escanaba Commandery No. 47 Knights Templar next Saturday evening for the purpose of inspection.

Activities will begin with a 6:30 dinner followed by the inspection ceremonial. Howard Plucker, eminent commander, will be in charge of activities.

Knights Templars from this and other commanderies are cordially invited to be present and ladies are also requested to come and enjoy the entertainment arranged for them and to meet Mrs. Caulkin who is accompanying her husband on this tour of commanderies in the Upper Peninsula. The dinner is being served by the ladies of the Order of Eastern Star.

It has been estimated that about four men of every 100 and one woman of every 200 are partly or completely color blind.

State Must Have More Income, Says McHargue

A new source of revenue will have to be developed in Michigan and the decision to do so cannot be postponed any longer. Prof. Daniel S. McHargue of the University of Michigan declared here last night.

Doctor McHargue, who gave the fourth lecture in a series on "Campaign Issues in an Election Year" for the U-M extension service, said the problems of finance and the proposals for legislative representation in Michigan are issues of primary importance in the Michigan election.

A possibility that the Republican party in Michigan will suggest use of a personal income tax to put the state on a solvent basis was indicated by the speaker in Escanaba Junior High School last night. He stated, however, that the Michigan constitution bars a graduated income tax and that if a personal income tax were effected, a uniform rate would have to prevail. Exclusions in the lower brackets would protect the small wage earners, he explained.

Sales Tax Diversion
McHargue, who teaches state government in the U-M political science department, stated there is not much hope of schools getting school state aid money in January, unless a special session of the legislature is called or radical action taken. He indicated that Governor Williams is considering a special session after the election.

The reason for the deficit in the general fund is primarily the diversion of state funds to schools and local government units, the speaker said, explaining that 78 per cent of the sales tax revenue goes to schools and local units. The U-M professor noted that there was some movement to change the sales tax diversion amendment, but indicated repeal was unlikely. "At least 900 of the 1246 townships in Michigan are not now taxing for state functions" because of the additional revenue accruing to them under the sales tax diversion amendment, McHargue pointed out.

The Party Stands
The deficit, which may rise to $90 million by June, 1953, could be prevented by reduction of state services but pressures prevent cutting enough off, he said.

The U-M professor explained that during the war the state built up surpluses when expenditures were down and employment was high, and these were used to meet the deficits which started in 1946. By 1950 surpluses were exhausted and deficits began accumulating. The state deficits now is about $11 per person, McHargue estimated.

The state treasurer can borrow from restricted funds, such as the highway and fish and game fund, but these cannot be used for general functions of the state government.

McHargue pointed out that the Republican party in Michigan has rejected the corporation tax, and that Governor Williams has stated his opposition to consumer tax and raids on school funds.

GOP Tax Package
In reviewing action in 1952, he observed that the 1952 budget, in which Williams asked for $351 million, was cut 6 per cent, mostly in capital outlay. Another reduction in state expenditures was brought about when the state legislature failed to put through legislation for money to meet a pay raise authorized by the state civil service commission. This necessitated firing 800 state employees, the speaker pointed out.

The Michigan GOP has developed a tax package through Senator Higgins and others to prevent a deficit in 1952-53, expected to be $30 million. Four of the bills have been allowed by Gov. Williams and three have been vetoed, the lecturer explained.

An increase in the intangibles tax and reduction of intangible monies going to local government units, a tax on national bank stock, a tax on insurance companies and an increase in the corporation franchise tax were approved by the governor. He disapproved bills which would have changed sales tax on liquor to a handling and service charge to go into the general fund, a reduction in rebates on liquor license fees from 85 to 50 per cent, and a change in the sales tax on used cars.

The speaker observed that he felt the governor had protected schools, but not the consumer by this action.

Legislative Representation
Also reviewed last night were the two proposals for changing the basis of legislative representation. The state constitution is not explicit in providing for the basis of representation for the 32 senators, he pointed out. The 100 representatives in the house are on a population basis.

Doctor McHargue noted that the last reapportionment in Michigan was in 1925, and should have been done again 1943. The legislature has failed to do this because population shifts have occurred, and this would cause some areas to lose in representation, he observed.

Proposal No. 2 would put both senate and house on a population basis, reduce the house to 99 members and increase the senate to 33 members. The CIO, AF of L and some Detroit civic groups favor this proposal, the speaker pointed out. The Democratic party has not specifically endorsed the proposal, but its platform favors a population basis, McHargue stated.

"Washington Oriented"
Proposal No. 3 would recognize geographic factors, increase the senate to 34 members and increase the house to 110 and continue moiety. Agriculture, big business and the GOP state platform endorses this proposal, he explained.

In discussing proposals for changes in legislative representation, McHargue cautioned his audience that four counties in lower Michigan which have 51 per cent of the state population could outvote other areas if aroused on the issue of legislative representation.

Indicating that Detroit was "Washington-oriented" and not too concerned with Lansing affairs, the speaker pointed out that some heavily populated areas in Lower Michigan have the same number of legislators as areas with a much smaller population. This causes a feeling that a vote there is worth less than a vote in a northern county, he explained.

Great Lakes Shippers Operate Successfully Without Subsidy

"These days when government by 'handout' has reached the danger point, members of the Great Lakes industry afloat and ashore can be glad that the grand old American custom of 'paying your own way' has many deep roots in and out of the shipping business."

These are the words of the Lake Carriers Association, as presented in a recent issue of its Bulletin.

Behind the statement is an interesting story of federal subsidy and its refusal by Great Lakes vessel operators and the industry they represent.

Perhaps few Americans are aware that operators of ocean vessels engaged in foreign commerce, on routes found by the Maritime Administration to be essential to the interest of the United States, are entitled to receive a subsidy both in the cost of construction and the cost of operation.

The construction subsidy is up to 33 and one-third per cent of the total construction cost; the operating subsidy covers the difference between the cost actually incurred in the operation of the vessel and those of foreign vessels in the same trades.

The purpose, of course, is to subsidize the vessel operators so they can more effectively compete with foreign vessel owners and to encourage the construction and maintenance of a strong merchant marine.

This same competition exists, although to a lesser degree, between U. S. and foreign vessels on the Great Lakes. The competition in the transportation of grain, coal and iron ore is steadily growing. In this competition the U. S. lake carriers are at the same disadvantage as ocean ships. Operating costs of domestic vessels are much greater than those of Canadian and European countries.

The maritime industry on the Great Lakes, however, has not asked for nor received federal subsidy. On the contrary, at the instance of Great Lakes vessel operators, Congress inserted in the Merchant Marine Act of 1936 a provision excluding Great Lakes vessels from the subsidy benefits available to ocean vessels in the foreign trades.

As the Lake Carriers Association points out, it is heartening to find a segment of our industry opposed to subsidy—for itself.

UN Members Owe Support To Korea

ONCE the delegates to the United Nations have grown accustomed to their glittering new surroundings in New York, we trust they will find time to look into some unfinished business: the lagging UN war effort in Korea.

American troops have borne the overwhelming part of the load since the war began. Though we may have high hopes that better trained and equipped South Koreans may one day do most of the fighting for their own land, it is not improper to suggest that in the meantime some of our UN allies relieve us of some of our burdens.

Everyone knows that Britain already has heavy military commitments in Malaya and the French likewise in Indo-China. But certainly they could safely re-examine their positions as compared with 1950, when they sent token forces into the field.

Yet the real onus falls not up these two powers, but upon other countries who subscribe to the Korean venture without actually supporting it. India and Sweden are random examples. Their ambulance-aid year concept of aid is little short of ridiculous when set beside the UN's aspirations for a unified world force to deal with aggressors.

The UN forum is the place to make the appeals for more help. Russia cannot keep us from talking, from letting the world know we believe this "joint effort" should be cooperative in fact as well as theory. Nor can Russia prevent other UN nations from stepping up their contributions, since the authorizing resolutions have already been adopted and need only to be carried out by individual countries as they see fit.

No major leaders in this country are wavering in their support of UN ideals. It has performed many useful functions in its seven years of life. These leaders believe we must not abandon the hope that some time it will be able to fulfill its greatest promise—that of preserving the peace.

No peace agency can be wholly successful when so great a power as Russia is bent on subverting its aims. Yet, through the absence of Russia from UN councils when the Korean war erupted in 1950, the UN was able briefly to play the sort of vigorous role envisioned by its founders.

It now seems entirely fair to urge that the freedom-loving members capitalize fully on this solitary opportunity by executing to the hilt the decisions taken in July, 1950. That means just one thing: more troops on the Korean battlefield.

The Doctor Says . . . Lindane Gas as a Pesticide May Be Harmful To People

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

New developments are constantly occurring which raise important health problems.

Q—Can you tell me anything about the effects of lindane gas on human beings? There are devices now on the market designed for year-round use in the home for killing flies, moths and other insects, using this gas. The claim is that the gas is harmless, but I should like information on this.

N. E. F.

A—This subject has been studied and reported on by the Committee on Pesticides of the American Medical Association. In summary of the rather lengthy reports of that committee it can be stated that there have been few reports of human poisoning from the use of lindane gas (technical benzene hexachloride).

In other words, the gas can be considered as relatively harmless to human beings, but not completely so if the concentration in the air breathed in is high enough.

With regard to the use in the home of electric dispensers of this gas, it has been considered important by the Insecticide Division of the United States Department of Agriculture and other agencies that they should include protective devices which will control the amount of gas or other insecticide liberated into the air in order to avoid too high a concentration.

Q—I have been criticized for giving my children skimmed milk to drink, though both are overweight. Are they not receiving the same nourishment without the butterfat they would if they received whole milk?

Mrs. G. H.

A—You are correct that skimmed milk contains the same ingredients as whole milk except for butterfat and vitamin A. In all probability, the children receive enough vitamin A in some other form, however, so that if they are overweight, giving them skimmed milk would cause no harm.

Q—I am 30 years old and have three small children. Is there anything I could take to keep me from feeling so tired all the time?

Mrs. A. S.

A—The chances are that the children and your other work are what is making you tired. There is no pill that can guarantee a lack of fatigue, but if you feel that the tired feeling cannot be accounted for by strenuous children and your other activities, you should have a checkup by your physician. This is to be sure that you do not have something physically wrong, such as anemia or some chronic infection.

Q—Can you tell me anything about Milroy's disease?

F. A. S.

A—This is a hereditary disease which is characterized by an edema or watery swelling of the limbs. As implied by its hereditary nature, it runs in families, cannot be effectively treated, but is comparatively harmless.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Walter Winchell has just made public affidavits alleging that Harry S. Truman was a member of the Ku Klux Klan in 1922. Most significant thing about these affidavits is that they were obtained in October, 1944, when Harry S. Truman was running for vice president.

However, they were not published by Winchell at that time. If so, the voters would have had an opportunity to pass on their validity when they could have influenced an election, not eight years later when the question of Truman's early background is purely academic.

Various editors have complained since 1944 that the press did not properly report on many other activities of the man then running for vice president, now the President. They argued that the job of vice president can be just as important as that of president, and that veeps are usually unknown men, picked by a handful of party bosses during the hasty closing days of a convention.

In view of this, and in view of the fact that Senator Nixon was not only hand-picked but relatively unknown either to Eisenhower or to the public, here are more little-known facts in the record of a man who could be president.

First, let it be said that Senator Nixon has been approached for comment on these facts, but has not made himself available. His press-relations officer has stated not only to this column but repeatedly to the press that Nixon will not answer further questions on his finances nor publish his tax returns. He has refused to hold press conferences.

WAR CONTRACTOR LOANS

However, here are some further facts on which the public is entitled to clarification:

1. Loan from war contractor—during the closing days of the war, Nixon, an attorney in the Navy, was given the job of renegotiating the contract of Erco, at Riverside, Maryland. This was an assignment which could mean money saved for the taxpayers. The renegotiating officer sat as virtual judge and jury, empowered to decide on a rebate to the government or a rebate to the contractor.

While renegotiating the Erco contract, Nixon let drop the fact that he wanted to go back to California to run for Congress and borrowed money from Erco to pay his expenses home. Later he repaid the money. It may have been purely coincidental, but Erco received a refund from the government on its war work.

Erco officials confirm the above facts. Senator Nixon was not available for comment.

2. Office expenses—in making his radio report to the nation, Nixon stated that he had used his $18,000 expense fund to pay office and travel expenses, thus saving the taxpayers money.

Despite this, the Senator claimed $1,294.05 in deductible office expenses in 1951 beyond his $2,500 tax-free allowance. Part of this was a claim of $800 for taking constituents to lunch.

In 1950 he also claimed a deduction of $1,471 for office expenses, part of which was $260 for constituents' lunches. Yet the Price, Waterhouse audit of his $18,000 expense fund for the same years listed "meetings and luncheons at California hotels, $410," also "meals, taxicab fares and parking charges paid for visitors, $382.52."

Obviously the Price, Waterhouse audit and the Senator's own expense deductions which were charged to the taxpayer conflict.

VETERANS RECORD

3. Tax exemption—in March 1951 Mrs. Nixon filed on behalf of herself and husband a sworn statement in California that their joint property did not exceed $10,000. This was to enable them to take advantage of a California tax reduction whereby a veteran in reduced circumstances is given a tax exemption of about $50.

In July of that same year, Nixon purchased his $41,000 house in Washington, making a down payment of $20,000. Earlier that year he had acquired a smaller house in Whittier, Calif.

If he lacked $10,000 in March of 1951, where did he get the $20,000 in July? This is a question the public has a right to ask of any candidate for office.

4. Veterans record—the best way to judge a senator's record is by his work on committees. Nixon belongs to the Labor and Public Welfare committee, an important group because it handles the Taft-Hartley Act, labor legislation, health, education.

Out of 18 full committee meetings during the last session, however, Nixon attended only four.

He is also a member of the subcommittee on veterans affairs, which investigated the veterans' medical care program, found it bogged down and inadequate. Thanks to painstaking work by this committee, the veterans' medical care program was completely reorganized and revitalized.

However, this was done with no thanks to Nixon. Though a member of the American Legion and publicly active at veterans' rallies, he had the worst attendance record of any member of the subcommittee. When real work for veterans was being done, Nixon wasn't around.

The Old Pros Take Over

Gen. Haight, Who Led 2,000 Men In Kashmir, Just Sergeant Now

FT. BELVOIR, Va.—(NEA)—It's not so much the actual demotion from general to sergeant which rankles. It's just that having once been a general does have drawbacks for a man when he finds himself a sergeant.

That's the report of Sgt. Russell K. Haight, 30, now an engineering instructor at Ft. Belvoir, Va., who formerly served as a general in the Kashmir Army in 1947. He successfully led a brigade of 2000 tough dragoons against the Indian Army and almost broke up part of the holy wars there single handed.

He was such an able general that the Indian government, in desperation, persuaded the U. S. State Department to talk him out of his command. He got his own revenge on the Indians, however, for this.

Fleeing a plot on his life, and with a heavy price put on his head by the Indians, he duped an Indian officer into providing him a staff car across the border to safety in New Delhi.

The only thing that peeves Sgt. Haight today is that just after being pressured into giving up his general's stars, and then re-enlisting in the U. S. Army, his application for a U. S. commission was turned down on the grounds of insufficient experience.

One of the big things Haight has as military experience. At 17, he left Denver, Colo., high school in 1939 to join the Canadian army and saw some rough combat before America got into the war.

Transferring to U. S. forces he spent time in the infantry, teaching judo and weapon training. At the end of the war he was in pilot training. Then he had a short stint as a cop in Denver, sold insurance and finally wound up in Afghanistan as a civil engineer.

Over there he became friendly with Sardar Mohammed Ibrahim Khan, then president of the Kashmir government. Sardar talked Haight into joining the Kashmir forces as a captain, with the promise of a good civilian job at the end of the fighting.

"It took about six weeks to see that we were fighting the wrong kind of war," Haight says. "We were dissipating our energies attacking cities. So I went back to the president and laid a new plan before him. I suggested that we concentrate on cutting the key roads and stopping supplies getting through to the cities."

The president of Kashmir was impressed with the plan and sold it to other Kashmir leaders. To Haight's surprise they asked him to carry it out as the head of a brigade of 500 regulars and 1500 tribesmen and with a promotion to general.

"My forces were mounted on everything from camels to jackasses," Haight recalls, "but they were plenty tough." The deal was an even better job after the fighting, with all of his expenses paid in the meantime. He refused a salary of $800 a month for fear of losing his U. S. citizenship.

"I was given two 38 Specials and a good sword," he says.

Just as his master plan for driving the Indian army out of Kashmir was getting into high gear, international politics poked into Haight's blooming career. The Indians put a price on his head and began pressuring Washington to get him out of the action altogether.

The American consul got a message to him from Washington urging him to quit his post at about the same time Haight discovered a plot against his life.

"I was coming home from a party when two men ambushed me and tried to kill me," he says. "I am sure now that they were Russian agents. When I escaped I decided that it was time to get out of the whole business, and fast."

Crossing the border, he claimed that he was an American reporter interested in doing some stories on refugees. The Indian army officer in charge failed to ask for press credentials and became so interested in the story idea he gave Haight a staff car.

Back in the States later, his wife told him:

"Rue, whatever job you get, you always seem to end up in somebody's army. Why don't you go back in your own?"

He took the advice, and now ex-general Haight, his wife and three young daughters are living near Alexandria, Va. He's working for a college degree in engineering in his spare time and thinks he might get out when this hitch is up.

Looking back he says, "Sometimes they needle me a little about my experiences, but it was fun and I don't regret a minute of it."

This Lucky Farmer Is Growing 4-Leaf Clover

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (NEA)—Down on the grass-roots level, luck is growing business.

The grower is William Daniels. The business is four-leaf clover. And with two generations of horticulturists behind him, Daniels owns the greatest stock-pile of ammunition against black cats, leaning ladders and free-flowing salt.

His backyard luck factory, running on sun-power and staffed by four clover-mechanics, arms nearly three million soldiers of superstition each year with the charmed plants.

You will find them on greeting cards, in key rings, pressed into bracelets, pendants, calendars, paperweights, watch-fobs and pocket pieces. One novelty manufacturer, for example, has a standing order for a million plants annually.

But the business of growing four-leaf clover depends on more than luck.

The majority of Daniel's blooms come from transplanted roots or runners. With seed-planting liable to produce three-leaf clover, Daniels selects only the runners which have sprouted the four-leaf variety. Now and then a selected runner grows nervous and clover springs up with five or six leaves. Daniels amputates the unmagical petals, leaving the charmed four to fill out the plant.

The clover harvest runs year-round. And the picked plants must be processed before they can cast their spell. There is first a solvent bath to remove the chlorophyll. Then the clover is re-dyed in non-fading green. Pressed, assorted, mounted, the four-leaf clover are ready for shipping to the front lines of superstition.

A very profitable business, this. Enough to make a rabbit stamp his foot with envy.

You can lose very much if you lose the election. There isn't anybody who wants to go back to the poverty, misery and shameful conditions of 1932.—CIO President Philip Murray.

Let the capitalist gentlemen know and remember that the new world war has more danger for capitalism than for democracy.—Russian Marshal Nicolai Bulganin.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

HALLOWEEN SPIRIT—Perhaps Halloween should be a national holiday, for everyone from young to old enjoys the night when ghosts walk and sprightly spirits visit the neighborhood on games of "trick 'r treat."

No matter how old you grow you still feel the fascination of Halloween. Grown-ups like masquerades and costume parties as much as anyone—and Halloween is the time for such goings on.

Halloween has its background in pagan superstition and its customs come from many lands, but the name is based in the Christian "hallowed" or "holy evening" before All Saints' Day.

Once a time of fear and pagan rites to ward off evil spirits, today's Halloween is an evening devoted to pranks and merriment.

LITTLE GHOSTS WALK—One modern development of the Halloween observance is a childish game of "tricks or treats" in which the adults buy off the pranksters with gifts of candy, cookies and apples.

"Trick 'r treat" is a happy time for the youngsters—and for adults who prefer the payment of a bribe to the possibility of trick being played upon them.

For many adults remember the days of their childhood, when "tricks" they performed were rough indeed and included destruction and damage to property that bordered more on vandalism than pranks.

THE ROUGH TIME—Some 30 or 40 years ago (and continuing in some communities now) it was customary for young boys to do all sorts of prankish acts in the spirit of Halloween.

Outhouses—an old-fashioned appurtenance to sanitation—were tipped, razed and transported; wagons found their way overnight to the schoolhouse roof; gates and fences were removed and used to block the streets; and it was not uncommon for crusty old adults to guard their property with a well salted shotgun.

Today it is common for the older generation, whose memories should serve them better, to accuse youngsters of being "wild."

One real old-fashioned Halloween would convince them that young people today are in the majority moderate and law-abiding in comparison to their fathers.

COMMUNITY PROJECT—Chief reason for the changing attitude toward Halloween is the encouragement given the young people in observing the evening with merriment rather than destructive mischief.

In Escanaba, for example, every school has its Halloween party, complete with costumes, fortune tellers, movies, contests, prizes and screaming fun. The parents who sponsor the event and work on Halloween party committees are a wreck the next day—but the neighborhood is spared.

In High Schools there are more refined forms of fun, with dancing and other pleasures that appeal to that age group. Teachers and parents cooperate in making Halloween safer and saner for all concerned, without detracting from the fun.

JOY AND FEAR—Halloween tradition is based in a strange combination of joy and fear.

The Druids, an early pagan people of Britain, and other early peoples of Europe, held Autumn festivals in which they celebrated the harvest; and combined with this was a belief that at this time goblins, witches and evil spirits came out at night to harm people.

Thus the joy of harvest was mingled with the fear of evil. By day there was rejoicing, by night great fires were built to drive off the goblins.

The emotions of fear and joy are mingled in the present day observance of Halloween—but the "ghosts" and "goblins" are children playing "trick 'r treat" and the symbol of the harvest is the pumpkin and the corn stalks.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

Do you call yourself an amateur at golf, tennis, or bridge? If so, just what do you mean?

A correspondent, not long ago, deplored the present tendency among sports writers, radio commentators, and others to use amateur as if it had exactly the same meaning as novice or tyro or dub. At first, I was disposed to agree with him, but have since been thinking it over.

It is true that, until recently, amateur has had but one meaning since we borrowed the word from France about 200 years ago. Originally from Latin amator, to love, it distinguished one who played a game or indulged in a hobby or sport just for the pleasure he got out of it from the professional, the man who did the same thing for money. The amateur may become highly expert, but, on the other hand, though he "would rather play the game than eat," as he often says, he may never gain expertise and remain a dub to the end of his days.

The novice (NOV-iss), from Latin Novus, new, is just a beginner, one just learning a game (or occupation). If he finds that he loves it, he speedily becomes an amateur. Tyro (TY-ro) is from Latin tyro, recruit, and any drill sergeant knows there is nothing greener than a rookie. The tyro, at bridge, doesn't know one card from another; at golf, he doesn't know whether a golf club is a club or a cane.

Such were the distinctions. But the fact is that mighty few amateurs ever become experts. Their game, just like the performances of amateur actors on the stage, is usually somewhere between good and bad, with flashes or either now and then. And we have got into the habit of referring to such playing as amateurish, especially the flashes of bad, and to the player as an amateur.

That is, we have gradually given amateur a second meaning. "One who lacks the skill or experience of an expert," and the dictionaries will soon have to recognize such a meaning.

After All, Weatherman Doesn't Make The Stuff

By SAUL PETT
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about starting a be-kind-to-weatherman week.

I think it's about time we were a little nicer to the weather man.

After all, he doesn't make the stuff himself. He just takes what the manufacturer sends him. Don't blame him for the final product.

A weather man has feelings, too. I discovered in talking with Ernest J. Christie, meteorologist in charge of the U. S. Weather bureau in New York.

Gets The Blame

Christie gets a little tired of hearing sports announcers say, "The weather man wasn't very kind to us today." He flinches when he meets an acquaintance in the rain who complains, "fine day you brought us."

"You'd be surprised how many people still blame us for the weather," Christie says. "Why not blame the weather? And if they're going to blame rain on us, why not give us credit for the sunshine. People rarely do."

When they're not blaming bad weather on the weather man, some people blame it on things they don't understand—like the explosion in the atmosphere," Christie explains, "is very, very small compared to the amount of transformations of energy in the upper air needed to produce weather changes."

Watched By Neighbors

Some people get so mad about the weather they've even threatened to phone their congressman about the weather man. This has happened to Jim Osmun, assistant meteorologist at the bureau here. But among his own neighbors in a New Jersey suburb, he is an object of respectful attention.

If Jim steps out of the house in the morning wearing a raincoat, a couple of neighbors frequently will return for theirs. Wives watch Mrs. Osmun carefully. Some will hang up their wash only when the weather man's wife does.

Like anybody else, a weather man is not impartial about the weather.

"I personally prefer a day when the wind is less than 12 miles an hour, when the humidity is below 80 per cent, the temperature is around 70 and there's just enough clouds in the sky for a contrast between the blue and white," Osmun said.

Feel Warmer

"Psychological tests show that this is the kind of a day which best gives a feeling of well-being contentedly introverted. We get about two or three of these days a month."

"My next best choice is a day when there's a mild threat of snow in the air or even a light snow coming down. When the sky is darkly overcast and there's a feeling of something big impending, you feel warmer toward other people, you feel more gregarious. You feel more like buying somebody a drink and just talking while the sky closes in on you."

BIG WHEEL — Eddie Boblitt, 14, of Bellefontaine, Ohio, can probably claim to be the world's only unicycle-riding newspaper boy. He's pictured as he travels his route upon the unicycle built for him by his grandfather, Ray Kerns.

Killer Gets Life At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Louis Eugene Hoover, once sentenced to death for the slaying of a Virginia millionaire, was found guilty without capital punishment at his second murder trial.

The verdict carried an automatic penalty of life imprisonment at hard labor.

Hoover, 28, thanked the jurors and Criminal District Judge J. Bernard Cooke.

The nude and battered body of James Mahoney, 35, was found in bed in his hotel room on Feb. 22, 1949, during the carnival season. Hoover, a former parking lot attendant in Louisville, Ky., was convicted of his murder in December, 1949, and sentenced to the electric chair. A new trial was ordered by the State Supreme Court on grounds that the state had made prejudicial statements before the jury.

At his first trial, Hoover pleaded innocent by reason of temporary insanity, and defense attorneys depended heavily upon the insanity plea during the second trial.

Hoover testified he had accompanied Mahoney to his hotel room after drinking with the millionaire. Hoover said he remembered striking Mahoney because he had proposed unnatural sexual relations.

repatriating prisoners of war and to urge Communist acceptance of a truce on those terms.

He endorsed as the "only way to achieve peace in Korea" a Polish omnibus resolution which includes a call for immediate cessation of hostilities, repatriation of all prisoners whether they want to go home or not and withdrawal of all foreign troops two to three months after the end of the fighting.

Agrees On One Point

Vishinsky accused South Korean President Syngman Rhee of collaborating with the Japanese years ago and painted his regime as one of "repression in the sheepskin of democracy."

Accusing Acheson of "distorting" the Russian position and that of the Communists at the Panmunjom truce talks on the prisoner of war issue, Vishinsky argued that international law as interpreted by British, French and Russian legal experts—called for the immediate repatriation of all prisoners of war without any conditions for allowing those who wanted to stay in the country of their captivity.

He agreed with the West on one point: that the prisoner issue was "the only hurdle toward cessation of the Korean War."

But he said that Americans are holding out because they want to recruit forcibly North Korean and Chinese Communist prisoners into the armies of Rhee and of Nationalist China's Chiang Kai-shek "for future aggressive plans."

Vishinsky read lengthy reports of the riots on Kojima Island and in other prisoner of war camps in South Korea, charging the Americans with "atrocities and brutalities" aimed at intimidating the captives into saying they didn't want to go home.

Alger declared that Gov. Williams "himself is not without connections which appear in the files of the law enforcement agencies, investigating committees and other groups whose business it is to stamp out subversives."

"He has given up trying to get the people of Michigan to vote for him," Williams said. "All he is concerned with now is a frantic effort to get them to vote against me."

Atomic Building Assured At UM

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Plans for a $1,000,000 Phoenix Memorial laboratory to University of Michigan World War II dead, were announced here today by University President Harlan Hatcher.

The three-story concrete building will be erected on the University's new north campus development, 267-acre site northeast of the main campus.

Funds for the building and equipment were raised through the Michigan Memorial Phoenix project, a $6,500,000 campaign to finance a research program in peace-time applications of atomic energy.

Use of atomic equipment will necessitate special safety precautions incorporated into the design of the building.

"All operations will be under remote control," said Dr. Henry J. Gomberg, assistant project director.

Concrete walls several feet thick will surround the radiation sources as shields against the potent rays.

The Phoenix project is dedicated to the university men and women who lost their lives during the last war. Names of the approximately 30,000 Phoenix donors will be recorded in a memorial lobby of the new building.

Atomic Building Assured At UM

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Plans for a $1,000,000 Phoenix Memorial laboratory to University of Michigan World War II dead, were announced here today by University President Harlan Hatcher.

The three-story concrete building will be erected on the University's new north campus development, 267-acre site northeast of the main campus.

Funds for the building and equipment were raised through the Michigan Memorial Phoenix project, a $6,500,000 campaign to finance a research program in peace-time applications of atomic energy.

Use of atomic equipment will necessitate special safety precautions incorporated into the design of the building.

"All operations will be under remote control," said Dr. Henry J. Gomberg, assistant project director.

Concrete walls several feet thick will surround the radiation sources as shields against the potent rays.

The Phoenix project is dedicated to the university men and women who lost their lives during the last war. Names of the approximately 30,000 Phoenix donors will be recorded in a memorial lobby of the new building.

Scornful Truman Heaps Ridicule On GOP Nominee

speech at 10:30 p. m., EST, in the State Fair Grounds Coliseum at Detroit.

Audience Receptive
As in a number of other Midwestern states, the President was told that the Democrats are facing an uphill fight in Michigan.

He campaigned there for Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Sen. Blair Moody as well as the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket.

It was a receptive audience Truman faced in the grand ballroom of the Sherman Hotel last night after an earlier civil rights speech in Chicago's South Side.

They gave him a whistling, hand-clapping, shouting welcome upon his introduction and he had to quiet them down because of time bought for nation-wide radio coverage as well as coverage by television in nine Midwestern cities.

He tore into Eisenhower for making "a partisan political issue" out of the fighting in Korea, for saying this country is "in that war" because of administration mistakes.

"Something Terrible"
Truman said most people blame the Korean fighting on the evil designs of the Kremlin, and declared Eisenhower, in his recent Detroit speech changed "the facts of history."

"And he did that just as easily as rolling off a log," Truman continued, "and just as easily as he deserted Gen. Marshall."

The President said that Eisenhower, in trying to blame the Department for the withdrawal to U. S. occupation troops from Korea in 1949 took quotations from congressional records "and twisted and distorted them."

Then, departing from his prepared text, he added: "It makes me sad when a man of whom I thought as much as the general will do low-down tricks like that in order to get votes."

His voice heavy with emotion, he continued: "It's just a distortion of the facts—it's something terrible and that's what I'm trying to put over to you."

Truth Hurts
He reiterated a previous claim that Eisenhower "recommended that withdrawal in 1947" and "his view prevailed."

"And so far I haven't read a single editorial calling the Republican candidate a mudslinger and a misrepresenter of the facts," he said.

Police estimated the turnout for the President at the Negro War Memorial on Chicago's South Side at from 35,000 to 50,000 persons.

Truman also slapped at Eisenhower in his speech on the South Side. He said Negro soldiers all over the world are proving the general "didn't know what he was talking about" when he said a certain amount of segregation is necessary. Eisenhower once told a congressional committee it would be unwise to start complete segregation of Negro troops into white Army units.

"There are a lot of other things on which he doesn't know what he's talking about," Truman said.

In his speech last night, he said that while Eisenhower drew no criticism from the press, his let was different.

"When I stayed in Washington and took no part in the campaign, the Republican candidate and the one-party press felt free to vilify me as a traitor and a corruptor. When I replied with a campaign of truth around the country their only resort was to accuse me of slander and abuse. They don't want the truth, they don't like it. It hurts too bad."

ROCK—At a meeting of the Rock PTA Monday evening, Oct. 27, Dr. William Harrison, Menominee-Delta health director, was present as guest speaker. His message offered information on the importance of immunization and facts about death through accidents to children.

Arne Johnson reported that in the near future the crossing at the intersection of town would be equipped with a safety device to avoid likely accidents to school children and other pedestrians. At present the sheriff's department, together with highway department is working to complete plans for installing some device that would slow the traffic down in this zone.

Victor Mankiewicz reported that film strips had been bought for the school's projector. At an earlier meeting the PTA voted to make a contribution for the film strips.

Much of the evening's discussion centered around a school's savings program and a committee of three members were nominated to look into the matter. John Small, Eino Salmi, and Mrs. Reino Niemela make up the committee.

Japanese Forced Him To Be Traitor, Former U. S. Sergeant Claims

NEW YORK (AP)—A former American Army sergeant, on trial here on wartime treason charges, claims through his counsel he was forced under pain of death to do the bidding of his Japanese captors.

John David Provoo, 36, was pictured in two opposing lights—as a traitor by the prosecution, as a patriot by the defense—in opening statements at his Federal Court trial.

Captured On Corregidor

The first prosecution witnesses are expected to testify today.

Provoo, a native of Sausalito, Calif., was captured by the Japanese on Corregidor in The Philippines 10 years ago. He was indicted three years ago on charges he turned on his fellow American prisoners of war, causing the Japanese to treat them brutally and kill one, and that he made propaganda broadcasts for the Japanese. He faces a possible death sentence if convicted.

Defense Atty. Murray E. Gottesman Tuesday admitted Provoo broadcast propaganda for the Japanese. But Gottesman told the jury he "had no choice in the matter."

Captain Defiant

Gottesman said the defense would show Provoo made the broadcasts under orders of ranking American and Allied officers who were also prisoners. The attorney said Provoo at the time of the broadcasts "was mistreated, beaten and in a state of subjugation."

Turning to the indictment count that Provoo indirectly caused the Japanese to execute Capt. Burton C. Thomson, of Swea City, Ia., Gottesman said the captain sealed his own doom by telling Provoo: "You tell those dirty SOB's I don't want to give them anything."

Gottesman said Thomson operated the prison hospital kitchen and that Provoo was a mere messenger boy for Japanese officers who demanded special tidbits from the kitchen.

China Reds Fooled By Wounded Marine

WITH 1st MARINE DIVISION, Korea (AP)—Marine Sgt. Donald Sulak of Cleveland, O., told today how a wounded marine escaped capture by Chinese Reds:

"This Marine (name withheld) had been wounded in both arms and legs. When the Chinese found this fellow they stopped and felt for a heart beat. They also took off his shoes and tickled his feet trying to find out if he was still alive."

"Luckily, he had will power enough not to move. The Reds turned away."

"Later, the Marine crawled off the hill and through rice paddies to our lines. He was a mess but he did come back."

TIMBER BRIDGE—Many rail-less timber bridges such as the one above which crosses the Sturgeon River on the Round Lake truck trail make accessible areas within the national forest. The bridge above has been completed and replaces old and unsafe spans built during the CCC program.

CONCRETE BRIDGE—Example of the concrete type bridge construction of the Forest Service is this white span across Pendill's Creek on Lake Shore Drive west of Sault Ste. Marie on Whitefish Bay. Many of these bridges have been constructed by Forest Service crews in recent years.

Forest Service Builds Bridges On Back Roads

The United States Forest Service, with headquarters in Escanaba, has completed a big portion of its Upper Peninsula bridge building program this year.

Nine bridges have been completed, replacing bridges first installed during the CCC program. Several more are under construction and will likely be completed this fall.

L. C. Harrison, Forest Service supervisor, outlined the nine bridges completed this year as follows:

Tearful Czech Girl Loses Court Appeal To Stay In England

OXFORD, England (AP)—A British court has turned a deaf ear to the sobbing 19-year-old daughter of a former Czech millionaire who pleaded not to be sent back to her Communist-ruled homeland.

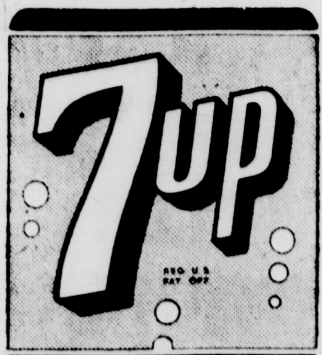

Tearful Hildegard Dorschner was hauled up yesterday for failing to renew her entry permit. Her Attorney, Gordon Franklin, pleaded: "Consider your own children if they were sent to a place like Czechoslovakia." He said her father had escaped to West Germany and now was living, penniless, in Düsseldorf.

The magistrates sentenced her to a week in prison and recommended she be deported to Czechoslovakia. She had escaped from there some time ago.

Americans Invited

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—The government has invited some labor leaders and newsmen from throughout the Americas to attend ceremonies next Friday formally nationalizing Bolivia's three large tin-producing companies.

Americans invited include John L. Lewis, Philip C. Murray and William Green, heads of the United Mine Workers, CIO and AFL respectively.

AS WE LIVE

As Long As You're Healthy You're Not Too Old To Work

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.

A person who is in good health is not too old to work, regardless of her age. However, she must take work suited to her age and health, with wages set accordingly. That is the advice I am giving this woman:

(Q) "I am 48. My husband died two years ago. I have depended on my 24-year-old daughter ever since. She helps me the best she can and doesn't complain. But just the same, I feel that I'm in her way. I have a little income but money doesn't go far these days. I have tried to find myself a job but everywhere I go, they turn me down. I am a good housekeeper, cook, and can sew. Perhaps because my hair is white and I'm a little stout they think I'm too old to work. Please give me some advice."

(A) First of all, go on a reducing diet and get your weight down to normal. Overweight does more to make a middle-aged person look older than white hair. Have you ever thought of the possibility of dyeing your hair to help people see you are not as old as you look now?

Then, after you are ready for a job, watch the "Female Help Wanted" ads in the papers. If nothing appears of interest to you or in the line of work you think you can do, insert an ad of your own, stating what kind of work you would like to have.

Because your skills are along household lines, you would be wise to try to get a job that would make use of those skills. There is a tremendous demand for people to do cooking, child care, ironing, sewing, and all work related to homemaking.

At first, until you get into the swing of working outside the home, try a part-time job. If you find this does not tire you too much, you could take on a full-time job.

You are wise to try to make yourself financially independent of your daughter. Naturally she has a life of her own and it is hard on a young woman to have to support her mother. Try to free her of this responsibility.

Elizabeth Hurlock is one of the nation's great psychologists, and she will gladly help you with personal problems.

Texas Has Drive To Get Out Vote

By DAVE CHEAVENS

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Free baby sitters, quiet places of prayer for divine guidance in voting. Free rides to the polls. Reminders to expectant mothers to vote absentee ahead of the stork.

That's the story all over Texas in the most intensive get-out-the-vote drive in its political history.

Militant partisans of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gov. Adlai Stevenson, scrambling for Texas' 24 electoral votes—biggest single block in the South—are behind much of the prodding for votes.

But probably more is being stirred up by such nonpartisan organizations as the "Ballot Battalion" at Dallas, the Jaycees, Boy Scouts, the League of Women voters and the churches.

San Angelo set aside a day of prayer for divine guidance in voting. The First Baptist Church at Waco opened its chapel daily through election eve for voters who want to pray and meditate on whom to scratch Tuesday.

Merchants at Brownsville are closing stores until 11 a.m. Tuesday, leaving notices on the doors saying they are freeing their employees to vote and urging customers to come along.

Controversy Rages Over Proposals No. 2; No. 3

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING (AP)—Proposal No. 2 and proposal No. 3 on the Nov. 4 ballot have the voters in a tizzy. Those who understand them have chosen sides sharply and those who don't are badly confused.

Both proposals are methods to reapportion the state legislature.

No. 2, called the CIO plan, is supported by the CIO and other labor unions, the Farmers' Union, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, various citizens' committees and many Democrats.

No. 3, called the "balanced legislature" plan, is supported by the Farm Bureau, the Grange, the Detroit Board of Commerce, most industrial, trade and professional groups, and many Republicans.

To understand what they would do, you have to first understand how the present legislature is apportioned, using the method laid down in the 1908 constitution.

The present senate is composed of 32 members, each from a single district. A county cannot be divided to make up a district unless it is entitled to at least two senators.

THE CONSTITUTION provides no method of creating the senate districts, so they are a kind of hodge-podge of area and population factors which probably originally were fairly equal but have become badly lopsided as the population has grown in lower Michigan.

The house is composed of 100 members. You divided the state's population by 100 to get the "ratio." Then you find that each county, or group of counties, is entitled to one representative when it has a "moiety"—or 50 per cent—of a ratio.

In practice, that means that the small counties get their wheel first. What is left over is divided among the other counties but because of the 100-seat limit there aren't enough seats left to give the big counties their due.

THE CONTROVERSY this year arises in this argument: Should the legislature be chosen purely on a population basis, or a combination population and geographical basis?

No. 2 is a pure population base plan. No. 3 is a combination plan. No. 2 would provide a senate of 33 members each from a single district. Each district would include one-third of the state's population, with the proviso that it could vary 15 per cent either way. Counties could be divided if their population exceeded the ratio. There is a very complicated method provided to form the districts.

The house would consist of 99 members. Each senatorial district would be divided into three representative districts, again with the permission to vary 15 per cent either way in population. Counties, cities and townships could be divided to obtain the proper sized districts. If a senate district lies entirely within a city, the three representatives may be elected at large.

THE RESULTS: Under plan No. 3 the senate would be increased to 34 members, splitting Macomb off from Lapeer and St. Clair counties and Oakland off from Washtenaw to create new districts. Then the senate would be virtually "frozen" on that basis.

The house, under No. 3 would be increased to 110 members, but the ratio is still obtained by using the figure 100. "Moiety" is still retained. A county or group of counties is entitled to a representative when it has 50 per cent of a ratio and an additional seat if it obtains a full ratio above the 50 per cent.

No. 2 and 3 both have methods to force decennial reapportionments in the future. Both would end the "bed-sheet" ballot in Wayne County.

No. 2 would, theoretically, allow Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Genesee counties to control the legislature, giving them 16 of the 33 senators and 49 of the 99 representatives.

No. 2 WOULD LEAVE only five senators and 15 representatives north of the Bay City-Muskegon line. The lower one-third of the state would have 28 senators and 64 house seats.

No. 3 would boost Wayne county's house seats from 27 to 38 and give Oakland and Macomb one additional seat. The Upper Peninsula would drop from eight to six seats probably. Saginaw would lose one and two seats would be removed from the five now representing the Huron, Sanilac, Gratiot, Clinton and Montcalm areas. In the northern Lower Peninsula there would be a realignment of counties.

No. 3 would give theoretical house control to five counties—Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Genesee, and either Kent or Ingham. But these would have no more than 12 of the 34 senate seats.

If both proposals pass, the one with the biggest margin takes effect and the other is dead.

The amount of energy fixed annually in the sugar manufactured by plants is equivalent to 300 billion tons of coal.

The party, honoring the woman who started Girl Scouting in this nation, is to start at 2:30 that afternoon and the program arranged for the afternoon will include skits by each of the troops attending. Indian themes are to be used.

This is the 40th anniversary of the founding of scouting in this country and there will be a penny parade during which each girl attending will deposit a number of pennies equivalent to her age and the sum is to go to the Juliette Low International Fund.

Each troop leader is arranging transportation for her troop. All Girl Scouts will meet at the Junior High school at 1 Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Bernard DeHooghe will present a talk on Juliette Low during the afternoon program.

Professor Favors Pig For Domestic Pet

WINNIPEG (AP)—Professor R. A. Wardle of the University of Manitoba says a hog in the house would make a useful pet.

The zoology department chairman told a veterinary association meeting that the hog, for one thing, would dispose of "those lawn grass clippings you dump secretly at night on someone else's lot." Prof. Wardle said he had read that one pound of lawn clippings is equal to three pounds of meal.

"The hog is undoubtedly intelligent and I imagine he could easily be house-trained. I see no reason why, in time, we should not have some quite desirable varieties of pigs sitting on our doorsteps."

Moslem Schools

KUALA LUMPUR (AP)—Arabic schools in the northern Malay states are responsible for turning out Malaya's future Moslem religious leaders. Resembling the monasteries of England in the Middle Ages, the Arabic institutions are maintained by Malays out of a religious fund. Students pay no school fees.

Students spend eight years in these institutions and go to Cairo or Mecca for higher religious studies.

Mackie Reports A $4,500 Contribution

More than $1600 has been contributed in Gladstone to the Community Chest Fund, it is learned from Wallace C. Cameron, Gladstone chairman.

This is from one industry and its employees, a railroad brotherhood and a number of business establishments.

Reports from other local industries are awaited before the house-to-house solicitation is started, Chairman Cameron states.

This is to facilitate the canvass in the residential areas. Where persons in industry or business contribute to the Red Feather drive they are given an emblem which is to be displayed in their home and thus when the house to house drive is made, places displaying the emblem will not be contacted.

Support Of Proposal 2 Urged By CIO Officials In Talks Here Tuesday

Declaring that amendment proposal No. 3 has within it the "potentialities of 'It Can Happen Here'", Gus Scholle, of Detroit, regional of the CIO in Michigan and president of the Michigan CIO Council, Tuesday night exhorted his listeners to support amendment proposal 2 as "one that represents the people and not special interests."

Lashing at what he termed the unfairness of amendment proposal 3, Scholle said that under its provisions 67 1/2 per cent of the people of Michigan in 17 counties would elect only 16 senators while 32 1/2 per cent in the rest of the state would name 18.

"Does any honest citizen really want that?" he asked, stating that the United States had fought two wars and was now fighting in Korea to prevent the very type of representation that proposal 3 would produce in Michigan.

Not CIO Measure
"If this be democracy," he said, "then everything I have learned is wrong and I must go back to school again."

The speaker denied that proposal 2 was a straight CIO measure, saying that the Michigan League of Women Voters and other organizations had favored it. He charged that much of the opposition to the proposal sprang from the fact that the CIO was connected with it and was taking an active part in politics.

"I can't understand the complete and unqualified injustice" of the criticism against the CIO in politics, he said, while little or no censure is directed toward other groups and organizations involved in state political affairs.

CIO Can't Control Wayne
"Let's get all the other organizations to agree to get out of politics, and the CIO will get out also," he stated, declaring that there are 485 registered lobbyists in Lansing besides many that are not registered.

Refuting the charge that the CIO is trying to seize control of Michigan, Scholle said that the CIO is unable to control politics in Wayne County where it is strongest. "If we can't control one city, it is fallacious to say we can control the state," he stated.

Quoting Frederick Alger, Republican candidate for governor, who recently stated that labor bosses do not control the labor vote, the speaker said "I can't boss a vote—I can only go out and sell people."

Would Fight CIO Too

Again referring to the alleged effort of the CIO to control the state, Scholle said that he would continue his fight "against any group control. If I ever believed the CIO was seeking to capture government I would resign from the CIO and fight that effort."

Preceding the talk by Scholle, H. L. McCreedy, also of Detroit, assistant state CIO director, traced the background of the two amendment proposals and charged that No. 3 was conceived and is backed by "special interests," notably the Michigan Retail Association, the Michigan Manufacturers Association, the Michigan Real Estate Association, and the Michigan Bankers Association.

McCreedy charged that the state is experimenting with a dangerous thing when it tries to introduce a type of representation other than that by people, as contained in proposal 3. "Hitler and Mussolini both tried it," he said.

Seek Government Of People

In its support of proposal 2 the only "conspiracy" the CIO is involved in, he stated, is a conspiracy to "return to this state the type of government of the people that was intended."

"We plead guilty to defending the Democratic rights of people," he said.

McCreedy declared that Michigan could not have the federal system of representation, as proponents of No. 3 claim for their amendment, because the state is not made up of sovereign countries, but of people separated only by "ephemeral county boundaries."

The federal system, he said, was approved as a compromise among sovereign states, a compromise that even Alexander Hamilton admitted was "an evil compromise," McCreedy said.

Use Big Lie Technique
Proposal 3, the speaker charged, was an effort on the part of Michigan's "special interests" to retain the state control they have had for many years because the state senate has consistently failed to perform its constitutional duty in reapportioning Michigan on a population basis.

Using the technique of "the big lie," he said, these interests have tried to make Upper Peninsula people feel they are different than residents in the rest of Michigan, that they are supposed to like inequalities in representation.

"Our whole concept of equality is thrown out," he said, "if the voter up here wants his vote to be evaluated 4 or 5 times greater than that of another man."

The two CIO officials were scheduled to give talks in Menominee yesterday and in Ironwood and Iron River today.

Annual Scout Drive Opens

The annual Manistique Boy Scout drive, under the general chairmanship of Carl Wedell, was slated to get underway today and continue to Nov. 10, it is announced by the Rev. Paul Sobel, assistant commissioner of the Red Buck district.

The 1952 campaign goal has been set at $900, lower than in former years, the Rev. Sobel said. "Heretofore the quota has been considerably higher but the council office, thinking in very practical terms, lowered it in accordance with what Manistique has done in past years, feeling that $900 was a sum that could be met by the industries, merchants and private citizens of the community," the assistant district commissioner pointed out.

Of this quota, approximately 40 per cent goes for camping and activities such as camporees, rallies and the summer and weekend programs; 21 per cent for the training of adult leaders; 21 per cent for the extension of the Scout program to more boys; and 18 per cent for general administration and office service.

The campaign committee will not undertake a house-to-house canvass this year, but is urging individuals who desire to help to make their contributions to Roy

Grid Season Wrapped Up, Scribes To Meet Saturday

The Upper Peninsula high school football season came to an official close with a sprinkling of games last weekend.

Wrapping up the 1952 campaign are a pair of weekend meetings by the Upper Peninsula Sports Writers Association and the U. P. Coaches Association. The scribes meet Saturday at Iron Mountain to name the all-U. P. teams, coach of the year and No. 1 team. The coaches meet Friday and Saturday at Negaunee.

Three prep teams finished the race with undefeated and untied records. In Class B Menominee posted five straight U. P. wins. Iron River posted six. In Class C Wakefield won seven in a row. Menominee added a pair of out-state wins and Wakefield posted one.

At Iron Mountain Saturday the sports writers from all U. P. dailies, semi-weeklies and some weekly papers will name a first team, second team and honorable mention from among the outstanding players in the Peninsula. Ken Radick of Menominee is currently the coach of the year and Newberry holds the Barber trophy which is emblematic of U. P. supremacy.

Texas Cow Girls At Hermansville Friday

HERMANVILLE—First Upper Peninsula appearance of the Texas Cow Girls, who have been training here since Oct. 13, will be made at the Community Center gym Friday night at 8:30 (CST).

The Cow Girls will face the Rodman's Bar Foxes in an exhibition tilt. The girls are at Sturgeon Bay, Wis. tonight.

A preliminary at 7 will send the Wallace independent team into action against an unknown opponent.

The Cow Girls begin their swing through the Upper Peninsula starting with the game here tomorrow night. On Saturday they play in Iron Mountain, Sunday in Stephenson, Wednesday in Escanaba and Thursday in Manistique.

Frank Rodman, sports promoter, reports the Texas girls are in good shape and have rounded into an effective cage team.

A large crowd is expected to attend the first U. P. showing of the girls team.

Half-time entertainment will be provided by Cherokee, Indian singer with the Cow Girls.

Kutches Stars In Wyoming Freshman Loss To Colorado

LARMIE, Wyo. — (Special) — Pete Kutches, former Escanaba St. Joseph football and basketball star, was a big factor in the play of the Wyoming University freshman grid team which held a powerful University of Colorado yearling eleven to a 7-0 score last weekend.

Kutches, operating in the tail-back spot with three other frosh stars, showed effective running ability that marks him for future varsity service.

Another former Upper Peninsula of Michigan athlete, John Moerchen of Menominee, punted well.

Joe Mastrogianni of Brooklyn spelled Kutches in the Wyoming backfield and also impressed the freshman coaches.

Coach John Bailey's Wyoming tenderfeet face another stern test Saturday when they entertain the Colorado A & M freshman squad.

Packer Passing Attack To Be Featured Sunday

GREEN BAY, Wis.—Green Bay's Packers will unveil their vaunted passing attack for the last time this season in Milwaukee Sunday afternoon when they battle the Giant-killing Philadelphia Eagles in Marquette stadium. Kickoff is set for 1:30.

The Packers, riding with a 2-3 record in the National conference, will present the league's No. 1 and No. 2 passers in rookie Babe Parilli and veteran Tobin Rote and the No. 3 pass catcher, rookie Bill Howton. Backing up Howton will be the clever Bob Mann and the two "long men," Stretch Elliott and Jim Keane.

The Packers, who gained 380 yards in the air against Detroit's tough pass defense last Sunday, are expected to put on a brilliant aerial display in an effort to even their record and jump back into the National Conference championship race.

The Eagles, coached by big Jim Trimble, surprised the entire National League last Sunday by upsetting the power-laden New York Giants, 14-0. Philly now has three victories, including two over Pittsburgh, and two losses to the Giants in an earlier game and to the Cleveland Browns.

The Packers will bump into a former teammate Sunday—Bobby Thomason, the Bay quarterback of 1951. Thomason, here on a conditional trade with the Los Angeles Rams, was returned last winter and later traded by the Rams to Philadelphia.

Thomason, a pin-point passer who had the best completion percentage in the circuit last year, helped the Eagles down the Giants with a 19 yard touchdown pass to Bob Walston in the corner of the end zone. Working with Thomason at quarterback are Adrian Burk and Fred Enke.

Thomason, on the basis of his performance against the Giants, probably will start against the Packers and carry most of the load.

Wells To Start Against Purdue

By ROBERT E. VOGES
EAST LANSING (P)—Michigan State will be out to prove it has a Rose Bowl-type team against Purdue Saturday.

The Spartans won't be eligible for the Battle of the Roses until next year.

But they can show what might have been by lambasting Purdue. Michigan State has never beaten Purdue on home grounds.

In 1919 Purdue won 13-7 at Lafayette and in 1939 the Boilermakers won 20-7. The two teams played to a scoreless tie in 1941. Michigan State scored both its wins in the series at East Lansing.

Don McAuliffe and Billy Wells, the two leading ground-gainers so far this season, will be teamed as starters at left and right half against Purdue.

McAuliffe has gone for 378 yards and Wells has 278 yards so far this season.

Tom Yewic will quarterback the starting backfield but fullback still remains a toss-up. Wayne Benson, leading ground-gainer at the position with 139 yards, is still having leg trouble and Evan Slonac may start.

Topor Is Rated Most Valuable

By JOHN F. MAYHEW

ANN ARBOR (P)—Ask anyone the name of Michigan's most valuable player this season. The odds are he'll say Ted Topor.

The 210-pound quarterback from East Chicago, Ill., directs the balanced Wolverine attack that has averaged 359.2 yards per game in winning three of five contests.

It's the signal-calling, the rugging blocking, the passing, the receiving and the ability to get that first-down yard that makes Topor so valuable.

With the development of a strong and versatile backfield, Topor has used his talent well, fooling his three Big Ten opponents for relatively easy victories.

His ferocious blocking has been a big factor in the mounting yardage rolled up by his backfield mates.

Topor has completed 20 of his own southpaw passes for 253 yards and two touchdowns and included a touchdown pass himself among the 13 he has caught for 147 yards.

When he is not playing with the Detroit Lions in the National Football League, end Jim Doran operates a 1,000 acre farm with a brother in Boone, Iowa.

In This Corner With Ray Crandall

Three Gladstone Braves were named to the Ishpeming Hematites' all-opponent team announced this week. On the list were Martin Becker, big end who was on the receiving end of most of the passes against Escanaba last Saturday; Duane Peterson, defensive center and Lowell LaPlant, hard-running halfback. The Hematites named Gladstone as their toughest foe of the season.

If they had an award for the top punter in the Upper Peninsula, Escanaba would have a likely candidate for the honors. Big Dick Peterson consistently drove the opposition deep with his high booming boots. In fact, in two years of punting for the Escanaba varsity Dick has never been out-kicked by an opponent. And he's one of the few U. P. kickoff specialists who could blast the leather into the enemy's end zone this season.

Paul Gunderman, Escanaba's Upper Peninsula lineman of the year last season, will see action when the Marquette University freshman football team plays the Ripon B team tonight in Milwaukee. Gunderman, an offensive end, has been working out against the Marquette varsity team since grid practice opened but will join the frosh squad for their only game of the season tonight.

St. Joe and Escanaba football seniors will have a chance to see one of the top college passers in the nation in action Saturday when they attend the Marquette-Holy Cross clash at Milwaukee. Charlie Maloy, the nation's No. 4 passing wizard, is in strong contention for an all-America berth. The Holy Cross quarterback last week fired 48 passes and completed half of them against Syracuse. Holy Cross swept to victory in its first four games with Dartmouth, Fordham, Brown and New York University but was upset last week by Syracuse, 20-19, in the waning seconds of a hard-fought game.

Eddie Vergara, the pint-sized Iron River speedster, won the Menominee Range Conference scoring race this season with 10 touchdowns in four games for a total of 60 points. Roland Pearson, standout end for Coach Harry Monson at Iron River, kicked 13 extra points for the undefeated, untied Redskins.

Mike Lucas and Harold Stockhaus, both seniors, were named co-captains of the tough Ironwood Red Devil team which this season played the Escanaba Eskymos to a 0-0 tie. Twenty-six Red Devils were awarded letters by Coach Meris Mortorelli.

Jim Wojciehowski, former Wakefield High School grid star and currently a defensive end for Purdue, was named the Midwest lineman of the week in a recent story in the Indianapolis Star. In high school Wojciehowski, who stands 6-3 and weighs 205, earned letters in football, basketball, tennis and track.

Another of those rare bowling triplicates popped up in Escanaba last week. Joyce Sharer of Sharer's Terrors in the Teachers Bowling League, spilled games of 93, 93 and 93 at the Arcade alleys.

Lions Need Defense To Beat Cleveland

By HARRY STAPLER

DETROIT (P)—The record book shows solid defensive play can sometimes beat the touted Cleveland Browns.

On the other hand, solid offensive play won't guarantee a victory against the Browns, owner of the best all-time winning percentage in pro football.

The Detroit Lions can't hope to whip the Browns here Sunday simply by an avalanche of touchdowns. Other teams have tried that and found themselves outscored time and time again.

Need Defense

It takes defense. And fortunately that's something the Lions can boast about. Along with the New York Giants, the Lions boast the best defensive average in the National Football League.

The Giants and Lions each have yielded only 3.1 yards per play.

But back to the Browns.

Actually, the Browns have lost only five games in the 32 they've played. In each case their racy offense was stalled.

Three defeats were handed out by the defense-minded Giants—by scores of 6-0, 17-13 and 17-9. The Giants scored only 40 points in the three games—fabulously low for pro football—but still won.

San Francisco holds a 24-10 victory over the Browns 24-17 in taking the league title last December.

Two Exhibition Wins

The Lions and the Browns have never met during the regular season. However the Lions hold two straight exhibition victories over the Browns and that alone is enough to irritate Coach Paul Brown of Cleveland.

The Browns lead the eastern division with a 4-1 record and may help to draw a sellout crowd of more than 50,000 to Briggs Stadium.

The second place Lions trail the San Francisco 49ers by two full games in the western division. The 49ers are expected to beat the Chicago Bears this weekend which makes a Lions' victory a must.

The defensive platoon may be weakened if Tackle Thurman McGraw is unable to play. He has been bothered by a shoulder separation.

NEW YORK (AP)—Last Saturday's many surprising winners among the college football teams merely reaffirmed that you spell "setups" and "upsets" with the same letters—it is just a matter of placement.

There were 41 correct selections among the 56 decisions, an average of .734. That dropped the season's figures to 193 correct, 55 incorrect for a mean of .778.

Richard Ties Scoring Mark

(By The Associated Press)
Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, incomparable right wing of the Montreal Canadiens, is one goal shy today of becoming the highest scorer in the history of the National Hockey League.

The "Babe Ruth" of Canada's national game rammed home two goals last night to tie Nels Stewart's record of most goals scored in an NHL career, 324.

Richard will have an opportunity to create a new mark over the weekend when the Canadiens meet the New York Rangers in Montreal Saturday night.

Despite Richard's record equaling performance, the Canadiens dropped a 7-5 decision to their arch rivals, the Toronto Maple Leafs. The loss also dumped the Canadiens out of first place in favor of Chicago's Blackhawks, who turned back the Rangers, 3-1.

Richard pumped home both of his goals during the first period to help the Canadiens to a 3-1 lead. Richard's record tying goal came at 17:07 and Referee Red Stoney plucked it out of the net and handed it to the game's highest salaried performer. The highly partisan crowd of 14,069 fans gave Richard a tremendous ovation.

Chicago had little trouble in downing the Rangers who played one of their poorest games in many years at Madison Square Garden.

Defenseman Gus Mortson scored unassisted early in the first period and the Hawks were never headed.

Willie Thrower, the Michigan State passing star, was awarded the 1952 Texas A. and M. game ball by his teammates for his excellent play against the Aggies. His work included seven pass completions in nine tries.

New System Will Be Used To Pick AP's All-State Grid Team

DETROIT (AP)—The Associated Press will give every high school football coach in Michigan a vote in selecting this year's All-State football team.

Furthermore, a new type ballot will be used. The aim: To weed out the so-called popularity factor and assure talented players—no matter how little publicity they or their school receive—a place on the squad.

Furthermore, the AP will name an eight-man panel of sports writers representing each geographical area to review the recommendations of the 500 coaches.

The panel will announce the official selections the first week of December.

12th Annual
This will be the 12th consecutive year the AP has named an All-State team.

Hitherto the teams were selected by the balloting of 100 to 250 coaches, sportswriters and sportscasters. Each voter was asked to name his version of an all-state team. The votes were tabulated in the Detroit bureau.

The new detailed method has been inaugurated to insure coverage of every school in every corner of both peninsulas.

Here's the way the voting will work:

During the first week of November a ballot will go to each coach.

Television Threat To Attendance Has Ball Clubs Worried

NEW YORK (AP)—Television's threat to box office receipts has the three New York baseball clubs worried.

Officials of the clubs today admitted they are reviewing their video programs for next season with the intention of cutting down on home-game telecasts and expanding road coverage.

"I believe TV is costing us about 10 per cent of our gate. It may be that we will have to drop television of our home night games eventually."

Here are this week end's selections:

Michigan State over Purdue: Michigan State is shooting for an unbeaten season. Purdue is shooting for the Rose Bowl trip.

Maryland over Boston University: Supposedly a grudge match. If so and Maryland lets down the bars, the score could be fantastic.

Oklahoma over Iowa State: The Sooners much too good.

Georgia Tech over Duke: A pair of unbeaten powers.

California over UCLA: Johnny Osceleski and his mates can't be stopped on successive week ends.

Ohio State over Northwestern: John Borton to be the hero as the rebounding Ohioans break loose. This is the game you'll see on your TV screen.

Notre Dame over Navy: It will be close but the Irish appear to be the better balanced club.

Kansas over Kansas State: That Kansas backfield is as versatile as any in the entire country.

Texas over Southern Methodist: Just on general principles.

Villanova over Parris Island Marines: The nation's 10th-ranking club to retain its unbeaten status. It is a Friday night contest.

The others:

Friday Night
Boston College over Clemson.
Miami over Kentucky.

Saturday
East: Princeton over Brown.

Arrest College Student On Attempted Grid Game Bribe

By WARREN ROGERS Jr.
WASHINGTON (AP)—A University of Maryland junior, accused of trying to bribe a Maryland football star, has surrendered and faces a fugitive hearing in Washington today.

District of Columbia police named him as Louis Leonard Glickfield, 21, of Hyattsville, Md. He said he gave himself up at Central headquarters last night and, after posting $1,000 bond, left with Washington Atty. Charles E. Ford.

A Prince Georges County, Md., warrant charges Glickfield with attempting to bribe Tom Cosgrove of Philadelphia, senior and first-string offensive center on Maryland's football team. Glickfield was arrested in Washington as a fugitive from that charge. Atty. Ford made it clear he will fight extradition.

Three Offers
University officials at College Park, Md., a suburb of Washington, said three bribe offers were made to hold down the score against Louisiana State University in last Saturday's game. They said the other players who told of being approached—not mentioned in the warrant—were quarterback Jack Scarbath of Baltimore, a top contender for All-America honors, and Frank Navarro of White Plains, N.Y., senior first-string offensive guard.

According to signed statements by the three players, the student approached them individually and offered them a total of $1,500 to win by less than 21 points. This method—controlling the point spread—was a feature of the recent basketball fix scandals.

Maryland beat Louisiana State 34-6, a spread of 28 points.

Cosgrove, at center, starts each play in Maryland's split-T offense. He said he was offered $1,000. Navarro said he was offered $400. Scarbath $100.

Set Trap
Maryland President H. C. Byrd said Coach Jim Tatum notified him last Friday, the day before the game, that the three players had reported being offered bribes.

Dr. Byrd said he wanted to announce it immediately, but was dissuaded by police who hoped to catch the alleged offender in the act "and perhaps find out if any gambling ring was behind him."

"At any rate," Dr. Byrd said, "this should emphasize to gamblers they had better leave college football players alone."

Tatum said that, before playing Louisiana State, all his players dressed for the game were asked to sign affidavits stating whether or not they had been approached with any bribe offers. All signed that they had not been, except Scarbath, Cosgrove and Navarro.

Casey Honored On Radio Show

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—All the plotting that has gone on behind Casey Stengel's back the past few weeks, and all the strange people flitting in and out of his life, had an answer today.

Casey, manager of the New York Yankees, admitted he was getting pretty mystified by things.

Then he found the answer. It came when he was ushered onto the stage of the El Capitan Theater last night and discovered he was the hero of Ralph Edwards' television show, "This Is Your Life."

Until then, Stengel didn't know it was about anyone's life, much less his own. But the old boy got a boot out of the show when friends closely identified with his career and his life stepped from behind the curtains.

There was a boyhood friend of 50 years ago, Harold Lederman, of Kansas City. There were two old time batting stars, Zack Wheat and Irish Bob Meusel, Umpire Beans Reardon, Yankee co-owner Lel Webb, and Billy Martin of the current champion Yankees.

Ol' Casey was induced to come to the theater on pure trickery. Sports columnist Braven Dyer prevailed on Casey to appear to receive a trophy.

After the program, during which Casey for once was at a loss for words, he recuperated to explain: "I figured it was just another spot show."
